Sir,—In your issue of Tuesday, January 3rd, which I have seen this afternoon for the first time, you have a communication in reference to the attack upon Capt. Minto's house, and in a paragraph to this effect: "There were of Europeans employed by the Dock Company, they refused to go although they well knew that Capt. Minto's infant children were in the house."

which they supposed was on fire and although I saw Mr. Niven and Mr. McKee drive the car, which their sharing would have greatly lessened the possibility of its being destroyed. "Now I most emphatically deny the truth of this statement as regards myself. The intimation that I had of the same, was the morning, when I came down at quarter past o'clock, the houses of the European employees of this dock are distant from Capt. McInte's house some 300 yards and are some 90 feet long. I am at the extreme end of the margin away from Capt. McInte's house, and each of the men called individually (and each I was told and prove) you will understand that it would be possible for me to hear the alarm, which I did not do, in justice to myself I demand the following explanation of the above statement."
